

WISCONSIN HONEY BEE BREEDERS ASSOCIATION
QUEEN BREEDERS LIST

The WHBBA is an organization of Wisconsin queen rearers and breeders dedicated to developing and rearing varroa mite resistant bees adapted to the Wisconsin environment. During the recent COVID emergency we have not been actively trying to recruit new members, but are meeting on a monthly basis via Zoom. The members shown below are selling queens/nucs, exchanging stock between each other and artificially inseminating queens. If you are interested in rearing queens If you are interested in rearing queens please visit our website (underdevelopment) or contact one of the members below.

Northern Beekeepers have been increasingly successful using nucs to overwinter their bees. If this interests you, please consider purchasing my book "The Cavity Compromise". It explains the strategies I have used, and how I adopted and developed them, to overwinter more than 2/3 of my colonies since I started keeping bees in 2008. It's available directly from me (signed) for $24 including shipping. Alternatively, it's available online from Amazon, Barnes and Noble, or Northern Bee Books for $18.95. Consider it a complementary text to my youtube channel "Quiney Honey and Bee".
